Adam,

I was in Mar today reconnoitring the snow conditions to see if I can get out on foot later this week, and I think I can.

I parked at Linn of Dee, and had a walk through the 'new' plantation at the Canadian Camp - taking photographs of the old remains etc. - I followed the estate road to its end near Mar Forest Cottage where I discovered that Mar Lodge Estate have their own private landfill / dump (see attached).

I was surprised - yet not surprised - I would have thought that this sort of thing was an obvious environmental no-no these days. One of the recent additions is a half-burned office desk - amazing.

Mentioning no names - I've asked SEPA for their thoughts.

Joe
